Seashell Oak

Product Description

Add some timeless elegance to your home with the Seashell Oak Herringbone flooring, a truly stunning Engineered wood flooring that is sure to make a statement in any room it features. The rustic grade means authentic wood grains and knots run through each plank to offer amazing character and feature to many living spaces. Along with its incredible appearance, this Engineered flooring comes with great benefits and can be used with underfloor heating. Its brushed and oiled finish protects well against minor scratches, and the 6mm wear layer means that it can be sanded down up to 5 times should it be required!
